BASICS OF ETHICS

Course Details

This is an introductory-level course that aims to acquaint students with the philosophical aspects of ethical evaluation. The aim is not to teach what is. It is not ethically good but to empower students with the skills necessary to make that decision for themselves when they encounter actual ethical problems or engage in ethical debates. This program is offered online through INADS World Campus (IWC) and combines academic coursework with guided research and internship experiences.

Course Objective and Outline

(1) Understand the elements of ethical argumentation (2) Cultivate the ability to think independently about normative and meta-ethical issues. (3) Get a feel of doing philosophical analysis by dissecting complex ethical arguments, questioning assumptions, clarifying distinctions and bringing out the nuances involved in ethical dilemmas. (4) Develop analytical skills needed to argue cogently in ethical contexts by presenting views clearly, assessing competing positions systematically, anticipating possible objections to a reasoned conclusion and composing valid responses to those objections.
